PROFILE

I am a passionate young individual whose goal is to provide more employment opportunities to the people of Pakistan as well as educate them about technology and design. I want to change things; show people that technology & design isn't just limited to software development & graphic design. People need to be educated on how these skills can help them make better decisions in their personal lives and careers.

EXPERIENCE

Project Manager & Lead Designer at Project Mirage (present)

As a Project Manager & Lead Designer, I'm responsible for working with clients to understand their vision and then bringing that vision to life through gorgeous designs as well as keeping the team in check and meeting deadlines.

Team Lead for the Project Mirage internship

A few months ago, we decided to help the youth by offering internships at Project Mirage. We gave interns a chance to learn about freelancing through the intern program. I helped them learn skills that would enable them to work independently and develop strong communication skills. I got them to code & design websites as well as design logos and brand identities and also taught them how to work within a team and meet deadlines.
